

Amendments to the Abstract

Abstract of the Disclosure

A security document with a security element ~~is described. The~~, wherein the security element ~~consists~~ includes at least partly of a material that is optically changeable by an electric or magnetic field. In addition, a corresponding method for producing such a security document and a test method for testing such a security document are described.

~~Fig. 1~~